City Council Passes Ordinance Opening Hudson Avenue-Two Policemen Resign.

HEAVY SENTENCES FOR HOLDUPS

C, Ingebretsen's Funeral-Police Court - Jurors for October Court Term-Wedding Bells.

George Gray, the Southern Pacific engineer who will have to face the courts on the charges of assault with a deadly weapon and assault and threatening to commit murder, is now out on bonds for his appearance Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and bonds to keep the peace. He was arraigned before Judge Howell on both charges, and his bond fixed at $500 on each charge. In company with his attorneys, Maginnis and Stout, he went out and secured the signatures of T. H. Carr and Jack Linshan to both bonds.

When he was released from custody all of his effects excepting the pistol all of his effects excepting the pistor with which he made the assaults were returned to him, but when he saw the pistol he said: "I don't want that; it has gotten me into enough trouble, and has gotten ment to touch it again. It was drink and that pistol which brought me into, jail." A number of his friends were at the police station when he was

WEBER COUNTY AFFAIRS.

The board of county commissioners held its regular meeting yesterday. City held its regular meeting yesterday. City Attorney Bagley appeared in behalf of the canning factories of the county, asking that that part of the county license ordinance pertaining to canning factories be repealed. The attorney argued at length the vast benefit of the factories to the county, and that if they want be licensed heavily it will have a are to be licensed heavily it will have a tendency to stop the coming of such en-terprises to our county. The board took e matter under advisement. Commissioner Wilson reported that he is still having considerable trouble with sheep coming down the Ogden canyon, and stated that sheep owners will be compelled to pay for damage done by their flocks to the road. An excellent report on the Irrigation congress prepared by Chairman Stan-

Ordinance Increasing Stipend of Marshal and Watermaster - Millet-Davis Wedding-News Briefs.

Special Correspondence.

Provo, Utah Co., Sept. 29 .- County Superintendent of Schools J. L. Brown has accepted a position as instructor in the Brigham Young university. This has caused dissatisfaction in some quarters among citizens of the county who think he should devote his entire time to the county schools. The boa 1 of county commissioners has taken the matter in hand, and is also of that In Judge Howell's court E. M. Edmundson was arraigned on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon, preferred against him by C. C. Pruitt, porprietor of the Green Light saloon. It is alleged that Edmundson entered the saloon and fired several shots, neither of which took effect. His hearing was set for Monday, Oct. 5, at 10 a. m., and his bond fixed at $500 which he was unable to furnish. opinion. Yesterday Mr. Brown was summoned before the board and the demand was made of him that he give all his time to the duties of county super-intendent. In support of this demand on the part of the board, reference was made to the following resolution, adopt-ed at the convention which nominated ed at the convention which nominated Mr. Brown:

"Believing that the school interests of our county are all important and that the duties of the county superintendent have grown to be numerous and to the end of improving our present educational condition, we recommend that the county superintendent of our that the county superintendent of our schools devote his time and talents to the work of the county and engage in no other work or profession that will take his time therefrom."

Mr. Brown, however, contended that was giving all the time to the pub lic schools which was demanded, and stated that his work was satisfactory to State Superintendent Nelson. He claimed that his contract with the university was such that the public schools received his first attention, and that in received his first attention, and that in case of a conflict of interest he would give the public schools his first consideration. He further stated that he had appointed Principal G. N. Child of Lehi as assistant superintendent and that the public schools were given better services than if he devoted all his time to them without en assistant. time to them without an assistant.

As the appointment of an assistant had not been submitted to and confirmed by the board, the explanation was not quite satisfactory, and the board was rather insistent that Mr. Brown should comply with its demands.

The matter went over for one week, in which Mr. Brown will have an opportunity to prepar a statement or ret portunity to prepar a statement or get evidence that will convince the board that he is within his rights in the course he is pursuing. If he fails to do this, the action of the board is rather problematical, although they seem to be determined to have their demand complied with.

CITY COUNCIL SESSION.

At the meeting of the city council, held last evening, a new salary ordinance passed its first and second readings. The only changes made is an advance in the salary of the city marshal from $67.50 to $75 per month, and in the salary of the supervisor of waterworks from $60 to $75 a month. The committee on judiciary submitted an opinion from the city attorney to the effect that the council had no authority to remit and abate taxes. The committee on sewer was authorized to proceed with the work of ex-tending the main sewer on Second West

LINSEED-MEAL FOR POULTRY.

Linseed meal is an excellent addition to the general variety of foods for poultry, as it is highly nitrogenous, and it is much superior to cotton seed meal, as the seeds from which it is made are fully matured, which is not the case with the ground cotton seed. Linseed meal may be fed at all seasons. Even when grain is allowed it will pay to feed linseed meal, and when given linseed meal the hens will lay more eggs. It is richer in the essential elements of growth and production than many other concentrated foods, and greatly enriches the manure. About one gill of linseed meal may be added to every quart of ground grain used. The linseed meal is rich in mineral and nitrogenous materials, and serves to balance the grain, the mixture with half a pound of ground meat making one of the best egg-producing foods, It should not be used oftener than once a day.

BUFF PLYMOUTH ROCKS.

To the query, "What makes the best all-around farmers' fowl" for eggs, table and market, and why? the writer would respectfully submit that the breed best suited for the farmer for the purposes named is, without doubt, the Buff Plymouth Rocks, and will endeavor as briefly as possible to give positive proof that such is the case.

We will take them from the shell and consider them from every practical point. such is the case.

We will take them from the shell and consider them from every practical point. They are very hardy and vigorous, a large per cent of eggs hatching large, healthy chicks. They grow rapidly and attain their full development ahead of nearly all the middle weight varieties. Being vigorous, strong and healthy, they are good foragers, getting their own living handily in season if allowed their liberty, being much better in this respect than the heavy weights and heavy leg and toe featherd varieties, and also the light weight birds, as they are more easily domesticated than the latter.

For eggs, there is an abundance of proof that taking the year through here is no variety of fowls on earth that will outlay them. This has been proved beyond a doubt. The writer is prepared to substantiate the above. Their eggs are good size, and a rich, brown color; and will be chosen instead of a white egg almost invariably if people are given their choice. We have never known eggs from any variety to be more fertile, as we know instances where whole sittings have hatched after having been shipped several thousand miles.

The table and market we consider their strong points. From the time they leave the shell, with proper care, they are always plump, and we do not have to wait until they are fully grown before they take on flesh, as is the case with many heavy weights.

take on flesh, as is the case with many heavy weights.

When matured they have round, plump symmetrical bodies, and rich, tender flesh, which never fails to please the epicure.

We have noticed in the dark varieties that when dressed the dark pin feathers are very noticeable. The Buff Rocks are an exception, as the skin, shanks, and feathers are all a golden hue.

The above reasons, with several others that might be given, are ample proof to the writer's mind that they are pre-eminently the farmer's fowl as well as he fancier's.

Another positive proof is the fact that Another positive proof is the fact that they are more eagerly sought after by farmers and fanciers than any variety that has ever been before the public.

This is supposed to be a strictly practical article, but I am sure that the reader will bear with the writer in just a word for the fancy. Can you think of or name a more beautiful bird than one having the correct Rock symmetry and characteristics, and which has a beautiful rich golden buff color?

The farmers desire something practical. In the Buff Plymouth Rock he can have it, and with it he can also have the most beautiful dometic fowl yet produced.—Michigan Poultry Breeder.

The foremost biologist of our day is M. Metschnikoff who has shown the world of science that there are leucocytes in our blood that act as scavengers or policemen. These policemen which are called phagocytes look out for the noxious or poisonous elements in our blood. How To PUT THINGS IN ORDER.

"A new broom sweeps clean"—and in order to put our own house in order we received all the resistance in the state of t our circulation and liver active. In the above sketch the border shows types of red corpuscles which are degenerated, broken down blood cells—in healthy red blood the cells are round but when we get pale, thin and weak the round cells soon become irregularly shaped of like a dumb-bell. The policemen in our blood are represented by the dark irregular shaped cells within the circle showing healthy blood cells.
